

Dr Aparna Vyas

Scans, tests, services & treatments available

- Skin excision for skin lesions
- Cryotherapy
- Dermatology

NHS Practices

University College London Hospital NHS Trust

Professional Profile

Dr Aparna Vyas is an experienced dermatologist based at Sevenoaks Medical Centre. Currently, she serves as a Consultant at University College London Hospital (UCLH), leading both the Suspected Skin Cancer and Vulvar Dermatology clinics. After completing her Master's degree at the prestigious St John's Institute of Dermatology she practised at Croydon University Hospital and in various community dermatology clinics across London. Dr Vyas is a Royal College of Physicians member, is on the Specialist Register for Dermatology and has over 23 years of medical experience.

Throughout her career, Dr Vyas has been deeply committed to medical education, regularly teaching medical students and general practitioners. She has presented at numerous educational meetings, published papers and served on the British Association of Dermatologists' Skin Cancer and Services Committee from 2018 to 2023.

Dr. Vyas treats a wide range of dermatological conditions and is dedicated to delivering patient-centred care. She fosters a safe, supportive, and compassionate environment in all her consultations.