

Dr Raja Reddy

MD FRCA FFPMRCA FIPP EDRA

NHS Practices

Medway NHS Foundation Trust

Professional Profile

Dr Raja Reddy trained as a specialist registrar in anaesthesia, intensive care and pain medicine from the London South East Thames School of Anaesthesia. He further completed the advanced pain medicine fellowship training from Guys & St. Thomas' and Kings's College Hospitals and was appointed as a Consultant in anaesthesia and pain medicine at the Medway NHS Foundation Trust in 2010.

He is an international faculty member promoting and teaching pain medicine. His pain practice comprises precision diagnosis and management of spinal pain, safe and effective management of chronic post surgical pain and use of ultrasound for selective interventional procedures.

He is passionate about teaching and has set up the regional anaesthesia fellowship programme at Medway hospital along with conducting regular ultrasound workshops for doctors.

Dr Reddy believes in a comprehensive multidisciplinary team approach for assessment and management of chronic pain conditions.

Special Interests

Back pain and sciatica, Neck and arm pain, Chronic post surgical pain, Complex regional pain syndrome and neuropathic pain, Radiofrequency applications and neuromodulation, Ultrasound guided interventional

procedures