

Bunion surgery

Bunions, known as hallux valgus, are a common problem that often runs in the family. The big toe becomes deviated, resulting in a painful bony protrusion on the side of your foot. If left untreated, the deformity can progress, resulting in crossing-over of the second toe or painful corn formation. Bunion surgery aims to correct the alignment of your big toe, relieving pain and restoring the shape of your foot.

Walk pain-free and in confidence

We work with specialist foot and ankle Consultants, who can help you decide whether a bunion operation is the appropriate treatment for you, and we will help get you back to walking pain-free and doing the things you love. The first step is to book an initial consultation, which you can choose to have at KIMS Hospital or Sevenoaks Medical Centre. If you choose to have surgery, this will take place at KIMS Hospital. With no waiting lists, you can access prompt care at a time that suits you whether you are paying for yourself or if you have medical insurance.
